The ability to communicate and influence others is an important skill that increases your effectiveness as an association leader and in business. This workshop covers the following skills to enhance your ability to...

- Get more out of your board and volunteers
- Understand various communication styles
- Adapt your delivery to different styles
- Enhance leadership effectiveness through better relationships
- Identify strengths and weaknesses in yourself and others

This workshop is taught in a highly engaging manner that allows participants the opportunity to practice skills learned during the workshop and receive feedback throughout.

Whatever your role in your association or your business, enhancing your communication and influencing skills increases your ability to accomplish more with less effort and cost.
